DISCLAIMER

HTAS is not responsible for the views, opinions, recommendations or statements (collectively, “statements”) of its instructors or other students. All such statements expressed by HTAS instructors or students are personal and do not represent or reflect those of HTAS, its directors, administrators or staff.

While HTAS makes every effort to maintain the integrity and quality of its classes, HTAS does not take the responsibility for any class content or for the veracity of what is being taught.

HTAS instructors may not solicit business from the students. Any business relationship between an instructor and student is purely voluntary on the part of the student and is undertaken at the student’s own risk. HTAS does not endorse or support such relationships and is not in any way responsible for their success or failure.

Students of HTAS take all courses at their own risk and agree to waive and release HTAS and its directors, administrators and staff from any and all claims of any kind or nature. Any student enrolling in a course involving physical activity represents that he or she is physically capable of taking such class and does so at their own risk. Any student enrolling in a course involving food and/or alcohol purchase, preparation and/or consumption assumes all risk of allergic reaction to food and/or alcohol, whether or not the instructor is notified of such allergies.

Students of HTAS are expected to conduct themselves at all times in an appropriate and respectful manner consistent with a school classroom setting. HTAS staff and instructors reserve the right to expel from the course and/or course location any person who is abusive, disrespectful to fellow students or instructors, takes or destroys the personal property of another without permission, places others at risk of harm, behaves in a criminal or reckless manner, or otherwise engages in disruptive conduct. Students who are expelled from a course due to inappropriate behavior will not receive a refund of or credit for the class tuition.
